RULING OF THE COURT

The application according to the notice of motion is to stay the order of Amin, J. in which he dismissed the applicant’s suit then before him. Before us the applicant says that what he wants is a stay of an order that he should pay costs. But this is not really what the order of Amin, J. was all about. In any case, even if that were so, the appellant, if he succeeds in his appeal, would be refunded his costs. Furthermore, we do not think that stay can be granted in respect of costs. The appellant has also not given any cogent reason why he should be granted stay. In all the circumstances, the order that commends itself to us is that the application be refused and it is hereby so ordered. The applicant will pay the costs of this application.
